

TAKE the LAKE 2012

Before we die, most people want to do something to prove that we have lived, something extraordinary that others can't imagine. So we get to it, we set our

ANYTHING

is

eyes on the goal, we get our heels in the air and we fly above the attitudes and people bent on keeping us down, and we do it. We break through the barrier between can't and can, between life and living, and we become the person we never thought we could be. We believe the unbelievable and we achieve the incredible...

POSSIBLE

And then anything is possible.

Living